APA FORMAT

Creating a bibliography using the American Psychological Association guidelines

At the end of a research paper, you need to provide a list of works you’ve consulted and cited. This should be done on a separate page with Bibliography centered at the top and the citations listed below in alphabetical order with a hanging indent. The Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th ed.) provides citation examples covering a wide variety of potential sources. Below are examples for some of the most commonly cited sources. If your source is not listed below, or for information on other aspects of writing papers, visit the library and check the Publication Manual, or consult the APA Style Website (www.apastyle.org).

(Note: All citations are reverse-indented and double spaced.)

BOOK

AN ENTRY IN AN ENCYCLOPEDIA

AN ENTRY FROM A DICTIONARY

JOURNAL ARTICLE, ONE AUTHOR

JOURNAL ARTICLE, TWO AUTHORS

JOURNAL ARTICLE, THREE TO SIX AUTHORS

P. Akerman, Revised 1/15/2010
A JOURNAL ARTICLE FROM A WEBSITE

ARTICLE FROM AN ONLINE DATABASE

A GOVERNMENT PUBLICATION

A MOTION PICTURE, DVD, OR VIDEOTAPE WITH LIMITED AVAILABILITY