

Waitlists

How to be added to one, tips, and other important information

Basic Info

If the course you are interested in taking is full, you may add yourself to the course’s waitlist, if eligible.

The waitlist is an automated process that runs 24 hours a day 7 days a week. Notification of seats that become available are emailed to the interested student immediately. Once a seat is available to claim, you must register for the course within 24 hours. Checking email daily is the most important task to ensure you do not miss your waitlist offer.

Number of entries ahead of you

Wonder what your chances of getting a spot are? You can see how many entries are ahead of you on the waitlist by clicking the Waitlist button and scrolling through the sections. Waitlists can fluctuate greatly depending on the time of semester and the demand for the course. The best advice is to check your email daily to not miss a spot.

A screenshot of a web interface showing a table with columns: ID #, Subj #, Sec, Title, and Dates. The table has one row with a checked checkbox in the first column. Below the table, a yellow highlight indicates "There are 4 entries on the wait list."

Adding to a Waitlist for a course you're already in

Did you get a spot in the course you need, but not in the section you wanted? You can add yourself to a waitlist for another section/s if you'd like to see if something becomes available. If you get a spot from the waitlist, you will need to first drop the course you're registered for and then add the waitlisted course.

Other Important Info

Waitlist not eligible for all courses

Courses that must be taken at the same time as other courses, called co-requisites, are not eligible to be waitlisted. If that is the case, the waitlist button will not be functional and typically a note is put on the course explaining that the waitlist is not eligible for the course. The option for students to watch for open seats is to be persistent in checking eServices.

Waitlist are only open if your registration window is open

The waitlist is only available to students who have a currently open registration window. You can verify when your registration window opens by clicking the "Courses and Registration" tab on the left and then "Registration Window." Choose the term you are planning to take the course, and your registration window date and time will appear.

If you do not meet the minimum pre-reqs for a course, you will not be able to add yourself to the waitlist. A message will display indicating the pre-reqs are not met. To find out what pre-reqs you need for a course, you can view them by clicking on the courses title and viewing the “Prerequisites (Courses and Tests)” list. For questions consult your advisor.

Waitlists turn off the day before the semester begins

The waitlist is open until the day before the first day of the term (the Sunday before Monday) for courses that begin the first week of the term. The waitlist is made available again after the first week for courses that begin after the first week.

Waitlists cannot be manually bypassed

If you have missed your email notification of an opening on the waitlist, or have some other issue regarding your spot on the waitlist, please know that the waitlists are automated and cannot be bypassed. If you lose your spot, and are still interested in being on the waitlist, you can add yourself back to the list to see if another seat becomes available.
